Commanding General of I Corps, Lt. Gen. James T. Hill. The CINC and DCINC arrived in Camp Walker by UH-60 helicopter 12:30 Sunday.

The residing generals of CP Oscar, Eighth U.S. Army Wartime Deputy Commanding General, Maj. Gen. Donald F. Campbell, Chief of Staff, Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Klein, Brig. Gen. Paul E. Mock of G-4 and other officers of CP Oscar were there to greet the CINC.

Campbell led the entourage for a walk-through inside the CP, specifically the EUSA Operation Center, G-2, Troop Command, and Provost Marshal Office. The generals also took time to meet with many of Troop Command's soldiers, as well as Republic of Korea Army liaison officers, to personally congratulate them for working hand in hand and contributing to the RSO&I 2001 exercise as one group of war-fighters.

"Each of us makes a difference," said General Schwartz, as he gave each soldier a handshake and a pat on the back.

After the session with the soldiers the leaders visited a few more places in CP Oscar before departing.

Although the CFC leadership stayed for a short while, they made a strong impression on the soldiers.

Rec. center stands 'ready and available'

By Cpl. Kim, Chan-Hee

Is there anything else to off-duty other than sleeping?

Yes, fun!

The Camp Walker Community Center provides various kinds of indoor fun to the off-duty personnel of Reception Staging and Onward-movement and Integration 2001. The Community Center is an MWR-operated establishment in building No. 452 located near the Camp Walker bowling center and the main gate. Soldiers can squeeze a little fun and relaxation into their hectic schedule during their stay in Camp Walker by making use of facilities provided by the Community Center. Soldiers can unwind themselves over a game of pool, table tennis or darts. They can also enjoy some cable, video or DVD movies on a huge wide-vision television in the lobby.

The first floor of the Center has a spacious lobby with comfortable sofas and wonderful interior decoration. They also have a soundproof music room equipped with many musical instruments

The spirit of "Hwarang"

It's April, and warriors have amassed to show their combat readiness in this year's Reception, Staging, Onward Movement & Integration.

RSO&I is a routine, regularly scheduled mid spring exercise involving forces from both the Republic of Korea and the United States. It is designed to evaluate and improve combined and joint coordination, procedures, plans and systems necessary for the conduct of contingency operation of R.O.K and U.S. Forces.

RSO&I demonstrates ROK-US interoperability and Combined Forces Command's capability, as well as the commitment to defend Korea.

Fifteen centuries ago, when this part of Korea was known as the Kingdom of Shilla, a group of Shilla warriors called the "Hwarang" demonstrated their battle skills and their nobility in this same area. The Hwarang was a youth organization led by a single "Kook sun," the spiritual leader. Under this leader, the Hwarangs led thousands of "Nangdo", to become a Hwarang. These young, aspiring warriors trained in martial arts and in academics, aspiring to become a Hwarang. A knightly code of conduct resulted from Hwarang-do training, and the Hwarang members visited beautiful places within the Kingdom, engaging in both military and spiritual exercises to cleanse and train their minds and bodies.

It is in the spirit of Hwarang that this newsletter was created to honor the servicemembers and events of this year's RSO&I that demonstrate the spirit of Hwarang.

This newsletter is also available on-line at <http://www.korea.army.mil/pao/hwarang/hwarang.htm>.

If any of our readers know of any sections or individuals who possess this spirit of courage, intelligence and nobility, let us know by calling 764-3611 / 764-3610 or e-mailing us at rozeanj@usfk.korea.army.mil.

What do you think of the 'no pedestrian' rule for the Camp Walker Golf course?

Sgt. Robert Bryant,
EUSA G-2

I like the rule for two reasons: it keeps the non-golfers safe from 'misaimed' golf balls and for the area beautification that makes the Army post look a little like home.

Spc. Robin Lee,
EAEN-EOM

I think there should be a pathway for the pedestrians to walk through golf course, because it would be quicker to get to DFAC and other places. Instead we have to walk around, which takes longer.

such as electric guitar for anyone to play.

For some refreshment, try the snack corner in the lobby. They have soft drinks, candies and ice cream for sale. If you want to check out your personal E-mail, there is the Cyber Café beside the center entrance.

"Our center is the best place to hang out for soldiers," said Mr. Chang Sam Yong, the center's head recreation specialist. "Exercise personnel are always welcome to our establishment."

The center also offers a variety of recreational equipment, including bicycles, televisions, video cameras and even camping equipments for rent to all valid ID holders.

"We have all the staff necessary for any recreation activities. Our goal is to meet the soldiers' wants," said Mr. Yi Yong Kol, recreation specialist assistant.

For those interested in souvenirs, the center prints custom-made T-shirts, caps, mugs and plaques with any design desired.

On the second floor is the Camp Walker Library. The Library has over 20,000 books, nearly 200 magazines, major U.S. published newspapers of various types, videos, CDs, and DVDs for entertainment and educational purposes.

"It is our goal to provide you with the kind of service and types of material you want. Books, magazines or newspapers; video or audio; print or electronic; professional, educational or recreational," said Mr. Sin Tae Su, library technician.

One last tip, if you are stationed in Korea and have a library card with your home Camp, you can checkout books for a month. Books may be returned to any U.S. libraries throughout Korea.

Other than traditional book checkout, the Camp Walker Library also provides other services; such as Internet access, photocopy and Fax services.

Like many places on Camp Walker, the Center has extended their operating hours for RSO&I personnel.

For the duration of RSO&I 2001, the Center is open from 1200 to 2300 hours everyday until the end of this month.

What do you think of the 'no pedestrian' rule for the Camp Walker Golf course?

Staff Sgt. Kareeve E. Brown, HHC EUSA

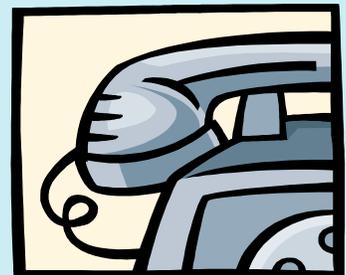

It is a good rule, but what happens when their golf balls end up hitting a pedestrian walking on the street?

Pfc. Laurent, HHC EUSA Training Room

I believe its a good rule. I know for myself being hit with a golf ball hurts. And I don't wish that on others. But the golf course makes the post more like the States.

12-on, 12-off is still 12-off Taking advantage of your free time

By Pfc. Park, Joon-Yung

How are you spending your off-duty time?

You may be spending the entire time "in the rack" sleeping your off-duty hours away. That's not too bad of an idea, which is common among the soldiers of RSO&I. But, there are more ways to spend time than you may think.

Spc. Joseph Knecht of Company A 102nd Military Intelligence Battalion from Camp Henry, goes over to the recreation center on Camp Walker. He also spends a lot of time at the Cyber Café during his off-duty time. He likes the Camp Walker Rec. Center because he can go upstairs to choose a movie and come back downstairs to watch it. And he often goes to the MWR tent to purchase snacks. "All the facilities are really good, more than I expected before the exercise," he said.

Another soldier spends his free time doing different things. "When getting off of my shift, I feel very tired. But I go to the gym to work out or go to the library. I also like to take a walk around the camp," said Pfc. Han, Sung-hwan of Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Eighth U.S. Army.

And there is one RSO&I warrior who gets out of the camp in his off-time. First Sgt. Jeffery Morning of HHC EUSA tours Taegu city. "Some of my KATUSA friends take me to downtown Taegu," he said.

Whether you are into building muscle, exercising your brain or just relaxing during your off-duty time, there is definitely more to do than just lay in your bunk.

"There is no special way to spend off-duty time," said Spc. Earl Carter of EUSA's G3.

"I just prepare for the next day during that time."

Remember, there are always boots to shine and clothes to clean.

The Camp Walker Recreation Center is where a lot of soldiers are spending their down time.
